Gluten-Free Tuna Mac •

A quick stovetop comfort dish that upgrades classic boxed mac and cheese into a savory weeknight supper. Warm herbs and a touch of acid cut through the rich, velvety cheese sauce so the pasta and tender flakes of tuna taste bright rather than heavy. Serves 3–4.

Ingredients

Whole milk . . . . . 2 cups
Dried onion flakes . . . . . 1 tsp.
Salted butter, divided . . . . . 3 Tbsp.
White rice flour . . . . . 2 Tbsp.
Kosher salt, divided . . . . . 4 tsp.
White or black pepper . . . . . 1/2 tsp.
Ground mustard . . . . . 1/2 tsp.
Dried tarragon . . . . . 1/2 tsp.
Ground fennel . . . . . 1/8 tsp.

American cheese . . . . 1 slice (3/4 oz.)
Cheddar or Gruyère cheese . 4–6 oz.
Gluten-free elbow pasta . . . 6–8 oz.
Yellow mustard . . . . . 1 tsp.
White wine vinegar . . . . . 1 tsp.
Canned tuna . . . . . 1 can (6 oz.)
Dried parsley . . . . . 2 tsp.

Sauce

Bring a large pot of water to a boil — Shred sharp cheddar or Gruyère cheese

1. Warm 2 cups whole milk and 1 tsp. dried onion flakes in the microwave on high for 2–3 minutes until steaming hot (165°F) and the onion flakes soften.
2. Melt 2 Tbsp. salted butter in a medium saucepan over medium heat for 30–45 seconds until foamy. Whisk in 2 Tbsp. white rice flour and cook for 1 minute until smooth and bubbling.
3. Stir in 1 tsp. kosher salt, 1/2 tsp. ground pepper, 1/2 tsp. ground mustard, 1/2 tsp. dried tarragon, and 1/8 tsp. ground fennel. Cook, whisking, for 1 minute until foamy, pale gold, and fragrant.

4. Whisk in the warm milk a splash at a time so the roux catches and stays smooth before adding more liquid.
5. Bring to a low simmer over medium-low heat and cook, whisking often, for 3–5 minutes until smooth and thick enough to coat the back of a spoon (185–195°F). Continue simmering for 1–2 minutes if any floury grit remains.
6. Reduce to low heat. Whisk in 1 slice American cheese until melted, about 30–60 seconds. Add the shredded cheddar or Gruyère cheese a handful at a time, stirring until each handful melts smoothly before adding the next, about 2–3 minutes.
7. Stir in the remaining 1 Tbsp. salted butter until melted. Taste and adjust salt. Keep on the lowest heat (below 180°F) while the pasta cooks, stirring occasionally.

Finish

Drain tuna

1. Add 1 Tbsp. kosher salt and 6–8 oz. gluten-free elbow pasta to the boiling water. Boil over medium-high heat for 6–8 minutes, stirring occasionally, until al dente (tender with a slight bite). Drain well and return the elbow pasta to the pot.
2. Remove the sauce from the heat and stir in 1 tsp. yellow mustard and 1 tsp. white wine vinegar.
3. Pour the cheese sauce over the elbow pasta in the pot, then add the drained tuna and 2 tsp. dried parsley. Fold gently for 1 minute until coated and heated through. Taste for salt and serve hot.

Equipment Required

- Large pot (4–6 quart, for pasta)
- Medium saucepan (3-quart, for sauce)
- 4-cup microwave-safe measuring cup
- Box grater
- Colander and can opener
- Whisk and silicone spatula
- Measuring cups and spoons

Hints and Notes

Yield

- Serves 3–4 as a main dish

Mise en Place

- Start the pasta water heating first so it boils while the sauce simmers
- Shred cheddar or Gruyère cheese and drain tuna before starting the roux
- Warm the whole milk and dried onion flakes right before melting the salted butter

Ingredient Tips

- White rice flour: Use finely milled white rice flour so the sauce cooks up smooth
- American cheese: A single slice keeps the cheddar or Gruyère smooth and prevents the sauce from splitting
- Cheddar or Gruyère: Shred from a block (or blend both); pre-shredded cheese contains starches that make the sauce grainy
- Gluten-free elbow pasta: Corn-and-rice blends (such as Barilla or Jovial) hold their shape best. Use 6 oz. for a saucier dish or 8 oz. for a thicker coat
- Canned tuna: Drain well so excess water or oil does not thin the sauce

Preparation Tips

- Cooking the roux spices in the salted butter and white rice flour for 1 minute brings out their aroma without burning
- Add the warm milk gradually at the start so the roux catches into a smooth paste before thinning
- White rice flour benefits from a gentle simmer (185–195°F) to lose its chalky texture and turn glossy
- Keep on low heat once the cheese is added; boiling above 190°F can make the sauce grainy
- Stir in the white wine vinegar and yellow mustard right before combining with the pasta for a bright finish
- Fold the tuna gently at the end so the flakes stay intact

Make Ahead & Storage

- Best served right away while the sauce is hot and creamy
- Leftovers keep 3 days refrigerated in an airtight container
- Reheat gently over low heat or in the microwave at 50% power with a splash of milk to loosen the sauce
- Do not freeze; gluten-free pasta softens when thawed

Serving Suggestions

- Serve hot in bowls
- Top with crushed potato chips or toasted gluten-free breadcrumbs for crunch
- Pair with steamed peas, roasted broccoli, or a simple green salad
- Offer hot sauce or extra black pepper at the table
